Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 15 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Widely sunny but feeling chilly overnight.

Today:
A chilly start to Friday but also much clearer skies than of late. A good deal of sunshine and light winds throughout the day, though feeling cooler than recent days. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Skies largely remaining clear through the evening and overnight. This allowing temperatures to quickly fall off and widely bringing the risk of grass frost. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Saturday:
Another chilly start on Saturday but steadily turning cloudier and milder through the day. Remaining dry with a moderate breeze developing along coasts. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Largely fine on Sunday, though more chance of cloud and spells of rain in the north. Turning unsettled and breezier into next week and remaining mild by day and night.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.